Note: The Nebraska Natural Heritage Program's Natural Heritage Database compiles information from many sources and would not exist without the efforts of many biologists and institutions. Each mapped element occurrence represents information obtained from one or more sources and dates. For help citing the source(s) of information for a specific record obtained through the CERT map interface, please contact the data manager for the Nebraska Natural Heritage Program (see <http://outdoornebraska.gov/naturalheritageprogram>).

Map produced using CERT's 'Make a Map' feature

The 'make a map' feature allows the user to include any map layers desired along with a title, author and date to display on the map. We suggest that the resulting product be cited as follows:

<Author>. <Year>. <Title>. [Map produced from: Nebraska Game and Parks Commission. (<Year, month and day the website was accessed>). Nebraska Conservation and Environmental Review Tool (Web Map and Reporting System). URL: <https://cert.outdoornebraska.gov>.]

Example: Garcia, Kayla. 2017. Proposed Park Boundary in Relation to Existing Protected Areas and Selected Natural Resources. [Map produced from: Nebraska Game and Parks Commission. (2017, July 31). Nebraska Conservation and Environmental Review Tool (Web Map and Reporting System). URL: <https://cert.outdoornebraska.gov>.]

A map layer displayed through the CERT map interface

The details of the citation depend on the layer. To view the available information on the source of the data from the map interface, click the arrow to the right of the data layer and click 'View Description.' To reference the information as presented through the CERT, the suggested citation is as follows:

<Author>. <Year>. <Title>. [<format of data>]. In: Nebraska Game and Parks Commission. (<Year, month and day the website was accessed>). Nebraska Conservation and Environmental Review Tool [Web Map and Reporting System]. URL: <https://cert.outdoornebraska.gov>.
